Dr. Richard Dressner, American
History Professor

HOW DID LAKE LUZERNE EARN ITS NAME?

Noted Historian and American History Professor Dr Richard Dressner has conducted extensive research on Diplomat Anne-Cesar de la Luzerne, our town's namesake who is considered one of the unsung heroes of the American Revolution. As a close associate to George Washington and the Founding Fathers, de la Luzerne played a key role in in the Continental Congress once it gained independence from Britain. In the twilight of his career, he was appointed ambassador to the Court of St. James in London and was truly recognized as a citizen of the world.

Blogger and Local Historian

THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION IN THE ADIRONDACKS

While the people of the Adirondacks tended to either be loyalists or apathetic to either side, British General Burgoyne's ventures leading his armies down from Canada quickly changed all that in 1777.

In an effort to capture what we now know as New York State, Burgoyne's defeat at Saratoga followed the series of raids throughout the region to interrupt supply lines and terrorize the people of the local community. These wilderness raids are the focus of Marie Williams' studies. She will reveal the gumption local populations had to defend their rights and freedoms.
